Google's new policy to accommodate real money gaming apps on Google Play

Google LLC on Thursday proposed to come up with specific criteria for onboardspecific criteria for onboard-ing real-money gaming (RMG) apps on Google Play platform to address the anti-trust allegations and related probe initiated by the Com-petition Commission of In-dia (CCI) last year. After re-ceiving the proposal from the tech giant, the anti-trust watchdog has invited stake-holders to submit their com-ments by August 20.

holders to submit their com-ments by August 20.

As per the public proposal, Google will allow all self-de-clared RMG apps on Google Play in India if developers provide certification from "a reputable and authoritative" third party body. This may include indisutry associ-ations such as All India gam-ine. Federation, (AIGF). E ations such as All India gaming Federation (AIGF), E Gaming Federation (EIGF) and Federation of Indian Fantasy Sports (FIFS). "The RMG Policy Update addresses the CCI's concerns [of competitive disadvantages to certain RMGs]. By permitting all RMGs self-declared by developers as permissible online RMGs, the competitive field is levelled," said Google in the proposal.

The changes will also be integrated into Google's Ad policy that earlier allegedly restricted RMG apps other than DFS and Rummy from advertising on its platform. These games will be advertised in India if the advertiser proves via certification that the RMG is a Skill game.
